Senior Scholarship Award

Mandy was a beautiful and vivacious 17-year-old, restless and eager to step into adulthood when she passed from this life in September 1994. Although she was a petite 4' 10", she had a feisty, determined spirit and never minded going up against the odds when she believed she was right. She was also intensely loyal to and deeply involved with those about whom she cared. She was always willing to offer help and advice to those who came to her. Even at her young age, it was important that her life have meaning

In memory of Mandy, our family established the Amanda Marie Dennard Scholarship Fund in 1995. This fund is administered under the oversight of the Elders at the Timberlane Church of Christ in Tallahassee, Florida, with the intention of providing a one-time monetary award each year to a deserving Christian high school senior to assist with his/her future educational goals. As a result of the continued generosity and love of family members and friends, the fund has provided 32 young men and women with educational financial assistance over the last 31 years.

In August of this year, Mandy would have marked her 49th birthday. She no longer needs our help to reach for the promises and to struggle with the problems of this life; it is our family's hope that through this award, we may in some small way help to smooth the path into adulthood for some other deserving young person each year, and by doing so, continue to share with others the legacy of Mandy's loving spirit and bright memory. Thank you for helping to continue her legacy.
